

WRITING ASSESSMENT
Write your final composition here.

G 12

Celebrities deserve with what they get payed. Many celebrities were poor before they became famous. A lot of them have been doing what they have done for a long time. It is a dream come true do be payed to do what they love.

To begin with, celebrities weren't that wealthy when they started. Some of them were homeless or they just couldn't make ends meet. They were just fortunate to get that one big break and things just seem to work for them.

Also, a lot of them have been working on what ever they do for a long time, for example, it's like a doctor they go to school for a very long time, but when there finally finished with there training they make the big bucks. Actors have been acting since high school or even before that.

Therefore, when ever they finish all of the trainings and the hard work is done it's like a dream come true. Why not to get payed to do what you love it's a beautiful thing. People that say that they over payed is an outrage. Maybe those people are jealous because they're not the ones that are not doing what they love.

To conclude, Celebrities get payed a lot. They have to work hard ~~for their~~ money. Some were poor just to trying to make it by day to day. Other have worked on there skills since they were little. After all the hard work it boils down to that it's a dream come true.

Score Point: 3

This response reflects a limited degree of proficiency in persuasive writing skills. A clear position disagreeing that celebrities make more money than they deserve is cited. Key ideas are presented to support this position (celebrities were once poor, they have been working for a long time, and it is a dream come true to paid for what they love doing). An organizational structure is evident, but the lack of development and pattern of errors in writing conventions keep this response at the score point "3" level.